Color of Morning An abstract study in warm light and quiet streets.

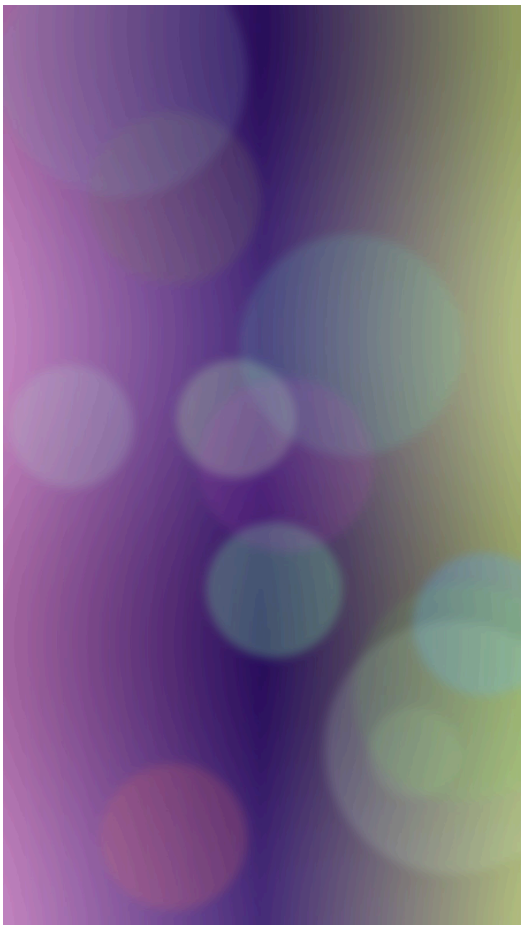

Blue Hour A fictional visual note inspired by coastal Vietnam.

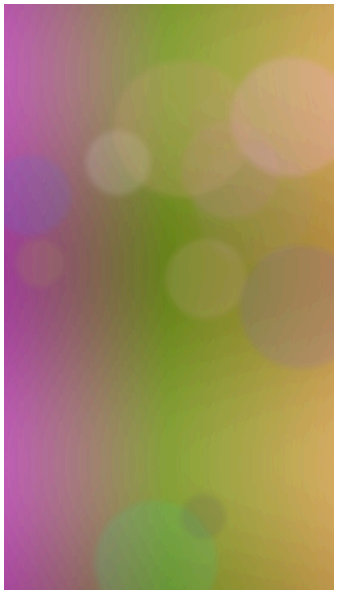

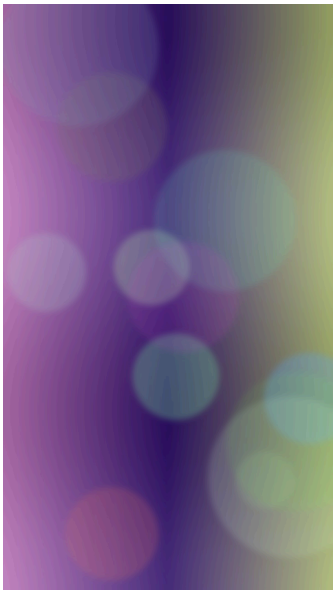

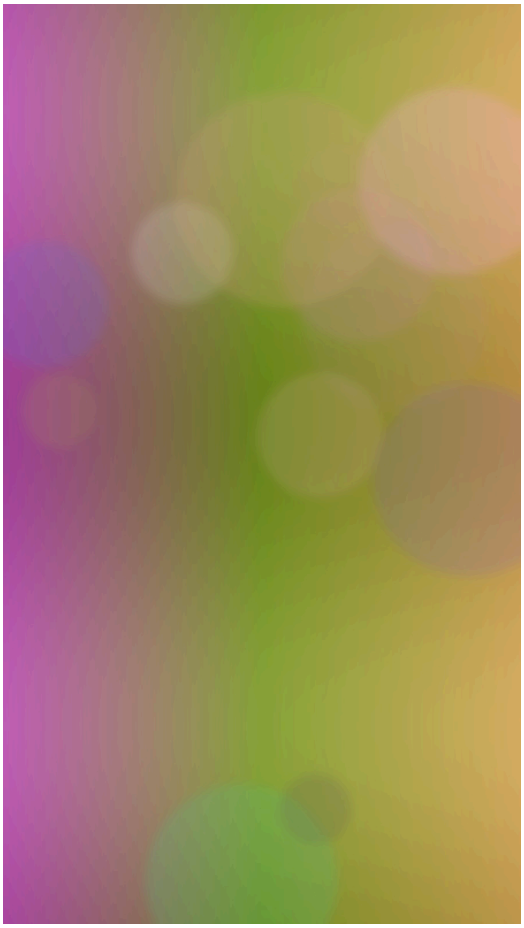

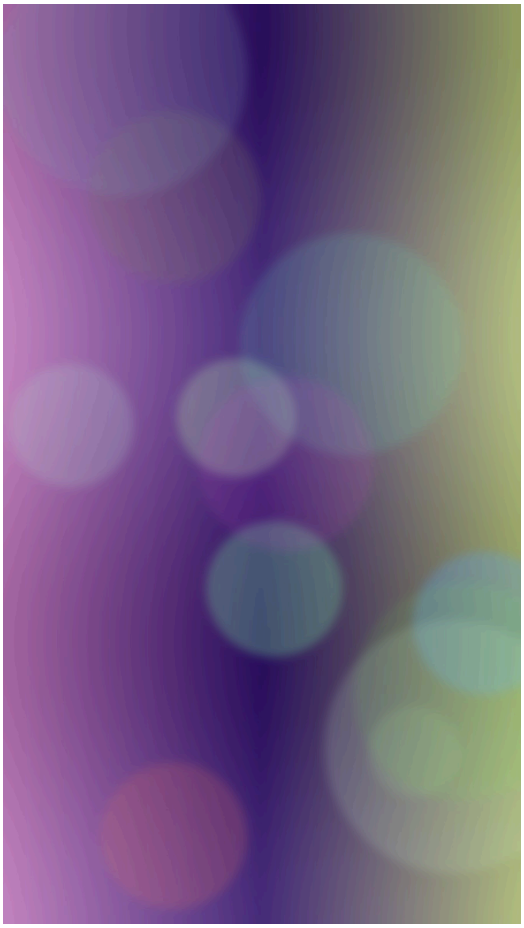

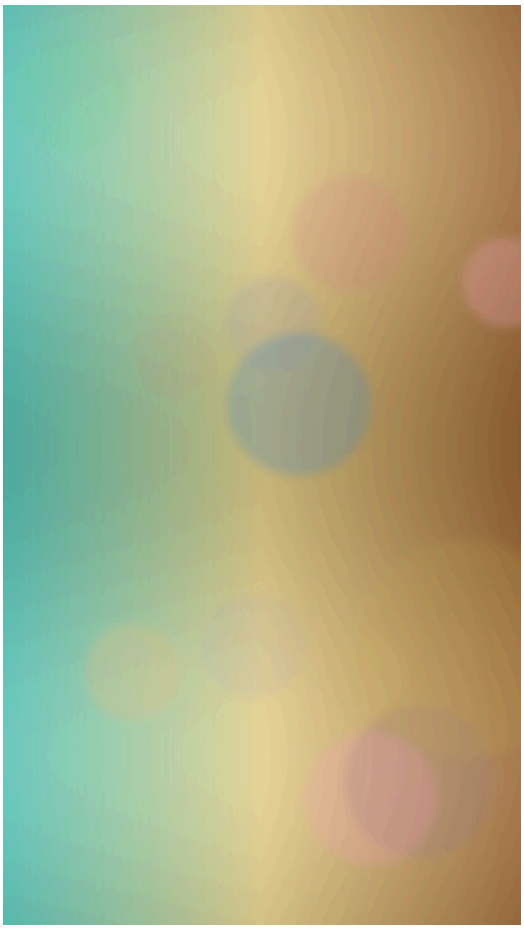

Notes from the Road

Vietnam rewards attention. A morning market can become a study of rhythm, color, gesture, and space. This fictional passage exists only to demonstrate long-form text composition in ZIM.

A Small Map

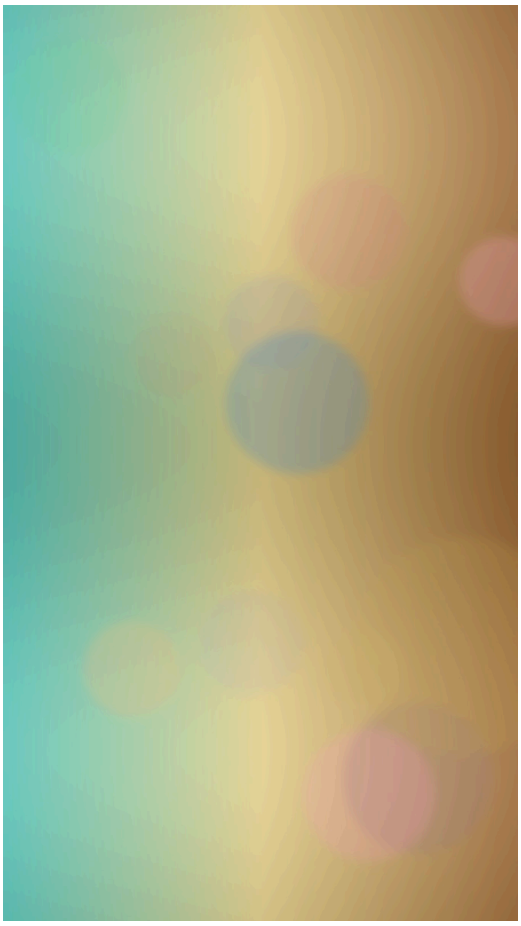

Begin with a street, follow the shade, stop when the light changes. The best route is often the one that leaves room for curiosity.

Between Places

Travel is a sequence of thresholds: hotel doors, ferry decks, narrow lanes, and unfamiliar corners.

Fictional editorial copy.

Moving North

A journey becomes a story when individual moments begin to speak to one another.

Fictional editorial copy.

“Leave enough silence for a place to introduce itself.”

"A good journey changes the questions before it changes the answers."
